

The venue is at: THE BILLET, FAIRKYTES ART CENTRE, BILLET LANE, HORNCHURCH, ESSEX, RM11 1AX.

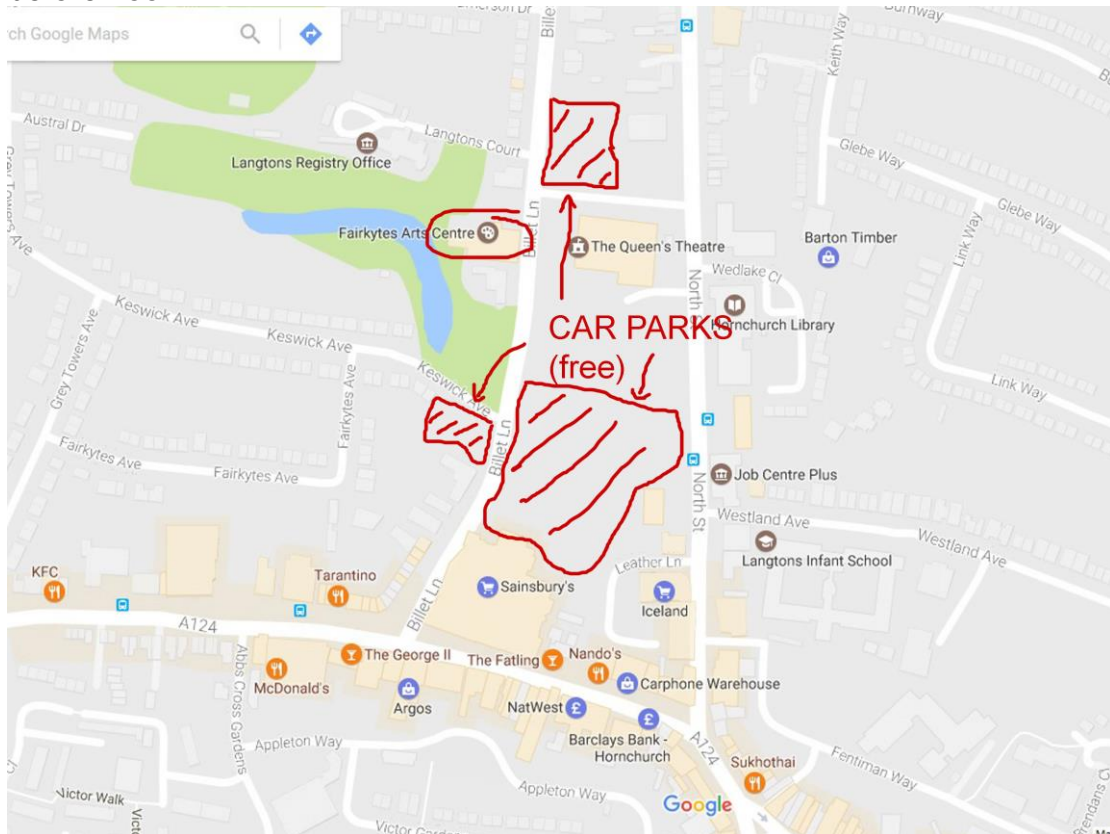

To reach it from the M25, take the A127 London-bound (Jctn 29) to Ardleigh Green Road (turn left to Hornchurch at first set of traffic lights –see sign pic, just after the speed drops to 50mph. You pass a petrol station on left at a slight bend first.)

Take Ardleigh Green Road southbound until it splits at The Chequers pub. (You go left around the pub, then right around the back of the pub, then left again to carry on.)

There are three car parks around the venue – these are free on Sundays. There are lots of food places on the high street, but many won't be open before noon.

The venue is on the right, opposite the Queens Theatre. Fairkytes aRts Centre has two buildings – we are in the larger, newer brick building called The Billet. Go through the black doors under the Billet sign, and turn right immediately inside to reach our room (the one with big windows, at right in photo). For wheelchair access, go round the building on the left side (the drive between the Billet and the other Fairkytes building), and there is a door with ramp that leads in from behind.
